

API

Application Programming Interface

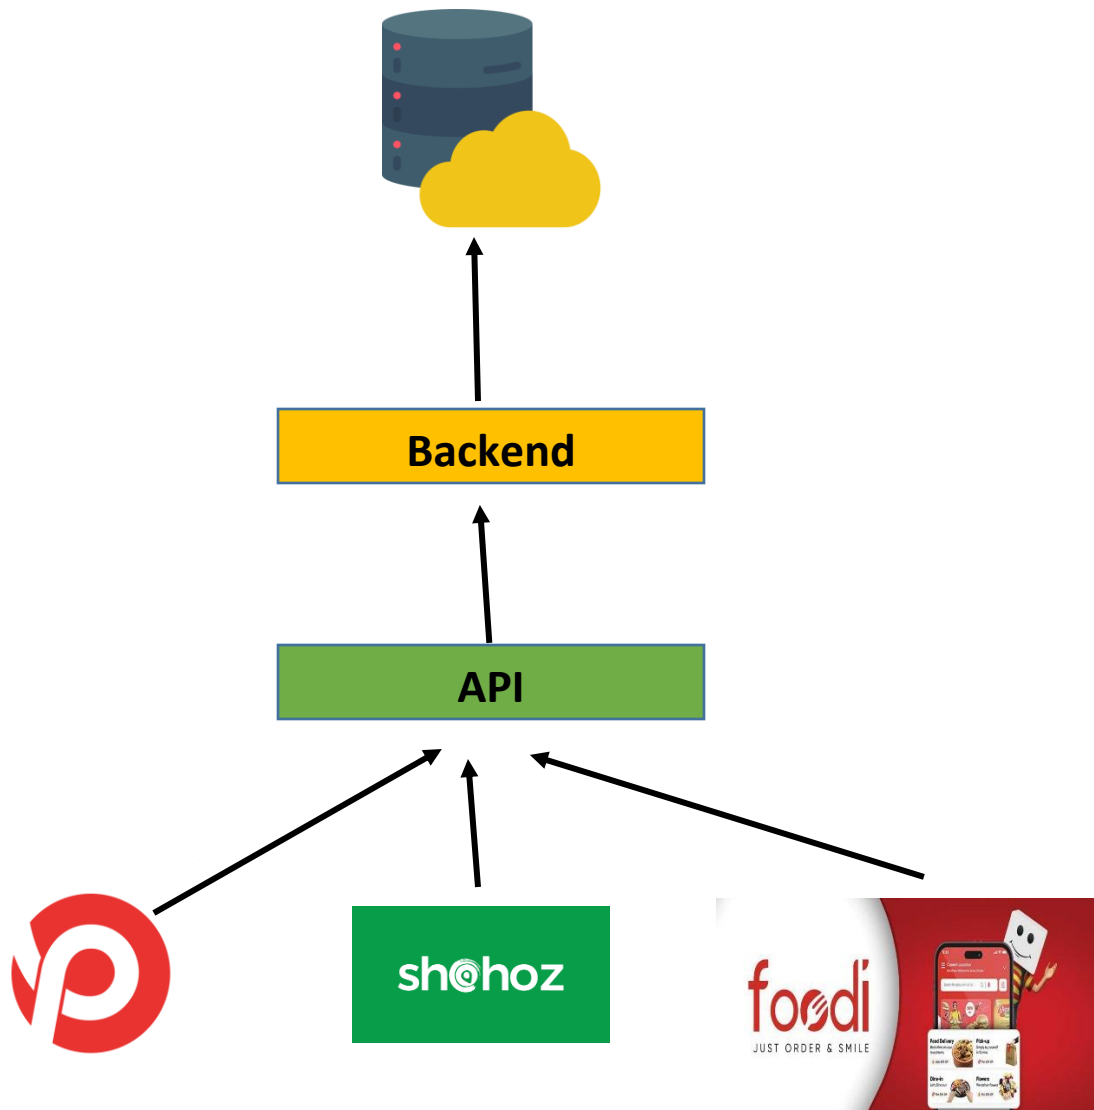

API is a set of rules that lets one software request information or services from another software, and get a response back.

Why Need API

json

API —IN ML

Backend

API

